Bud’s Day Out

Every day Ben would run and hug his dog, Bud.
Bud would run up and down, but not today.
“Where is Bud, Mom? Is Bud in back?”
asked Ben. “Let’s look for him,” said Mom.
“Is Bud hurt?” said Ben. “Bud is not hurt,” said Mom. Ben got in their car. “Hold on,” said Mom. “Let’s walk.” Ben and Mom walked.
“Did a big black dog run in?” asked Ben. “Not today,”
said Dan. “Why not stop in the glass shop?”
Ben and Mom walked. “Did a big black dog run in?”
asked Ben. “Not today,” said Jill. “Why not stop in the pet shop?” “Did you hear a noise, Mom?”

Ben asked. "I know where Bud is!"

What a big fuss! Bud ran up and down. The animals ran up and down. Splat! Splat! Splat! What a big mess!

"Stop! Stop! Stop!" yelled Mr. Plum. "Come and get a big hug, Bud," yelled Ben. Ben got Bud. Bud got a big hug. "Let's scrub up the mess," said Mom.

Mr. Plum felt glad. "Bud must learn The Ten Rules for Dogs," said Mr. Plum. Ben said, "Gee, what fun! I can read. You can look at the pictures, Bud!"
